

CLINICAL ASSISTANT PROFESSOR (PER DIEM)
DEPARTMENT OF OBSTETRICS, GYNECOLOGY & REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH

The Department of Obstetrics, Gynecology and Reproductive Health at Rutgers – New Jersey Medical School has three (3) per diem positions available at the Clinical Assistant Professor level, for Board Certified or Board Eligible Physicians, in the Division of General Obstetrics and Gynecology.

These three per diem positions will assist with week day and weekend L&D and in house urgent coverage with backup (up to 6 calls/month) at University Hospital. Candidates will also participate in the education of medical students, residents and fellows. The University Hospital, a primary teaching hospital of the Rutgers New Jersey Medical School, is a widely recognized tertiary care center and Level 1 Trauma Center.

New Jersey's academic health center, Rutgers Biomedical and Health Sciences (RBHS) takes an integrated approach to educating students, providing clinical care, and conducting research, all with the goal of improving human health. This position is at Rutgers- New Jersey Medical School (NJMS) in Newark, NJ. Aligned with Rutgers University–New Brunswick and collaborating university-wide, RBHS includes eight schools, a behavioral health network, and five centers and institutes that focus on cancer treatment and research, neuroscience, advanced biotechnology and medicine, environmental and occupational health, and health care policy and aging research. RBHS has recently agreed to a public/private partnership with RWJBarnabas Health, which will broaden the scope and reach to all New Jerseyans.

QUALIFICATIONS include New Jersey Medical License and Board Eligible or Board Certification in Obstetrics and Gynecology.

Our location offers the best of all worlds including excellent schools, a suburban or urban lifestyle and the full spectrum of indoor and outdoor leisure activities. New York City is easily accessible via a 20-minute train ride. Interested candidates should email letter of interest with curriculum vitae to: Victor Marques, Director of Administration, Department of Obstetrics, Gynecology and Reproductive Health, Email marquevm@njms.rutgers.edu.

Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer, and is compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). For more information, please visit <http://recruitment.rutgers.edu/TheRUCommitment.htm>.